Commodore's Comment

"Warning: dates on this calendar are closer than they appear." - Anonymous quote about procrastination

Your new LBYC board is heeding the above caution and is already hard at work, even though next summer seems far away. Board meeting notes do not make for high drama, especially in comparison to the recent national election, but here are some actions taken at our first two meetings:

We appointed a committee to plan for LBYC's 125th anniversary in 2018. Committee members are Bill and Peg Hudson, Don and Carol Stein, Robert and Carol Klement, Monty and Chris Mackey, and Steve and Mary Schmitendorf. The committee welcomes your ideas.

We decided against a kitchen rental agreement with Toothpicks, our favorite caterer. Toothpicks had proposed using the kitchen year-round to do their cooking in return for rent payments and further favorable support of our social events. The board decided there were too many potential unintended consequences of linking the club with a commercial venture. This decision will not affect our terrific relationship with Toothpicks.

We are revising the club's beverage policy to emphasize that alcohol for all events must be purchased by the club from a licensed distributor, in accordance with state law. The revised policy will also clarify that event budgets must include reimbursing the club at the regular drink prices set by the board, even if the event wishes to provide free or reduced price drinks. This maintains our profit margin on the bar, which is a key source of revenue.

We authorized submitting bids for 2018, 2019, or 2020 to host the Opti No Tears Regatta, the Opti Inland Championships, the C Invitational, and the Wisconsin MC Championship. We will also host the 2018 Quad Lakes X Regatta.

The board wants all our actions and decisions to be in the best interests of the club. Feel free to contact me or any board member with your questions, comments, and suggestions.

Enjoy the fall and winter holidays!

Beulah's Olympian Shares Her Rio Experience

by Al Haeger

The 100 people attending the October 1 post-Olympic celebration for Annie Haeger experienced a special evening unlike anything we have seen at LBYC. The food and company were great, with three internationally-known sailors and one new potential Olympic campaigner attending. Mark Smith did a fabulous job honoring Annie, but the real centerpiece of the evening was Annie's talk and slides about her experience, followed by a no-holds-barred Q&A session. Annie opened herself up to us, and did so with poise, grace, and humor. It was truly remarkable.

It would be impossible to repeat all of the good stuff we heard, but here are some highlights of her talk:

The US Sailing Team journey to the Olympic event began with a send-off in Houston. The team members got tons of custom-fit swag from Nike and Ralph Lauren, and had their names featured in lights.

The Rio Olympic village held 10,000 athletes, with a central dining hall and shared gym. Annie described the dining hall as an animal watering hole, and struggled to get her daily caffeine fix, with only six coffee machines for

FROM THE SAILING VICE COMMODORE

I recently attended the ILYA winter inland meeting.

John Strassman from US Sailing provided an overview of the 2017-2020 US Sailing rule changes. John offered to work with ILYA Race Chair Chip Mann to revise the Sailing Instructions for all ILYA fleets and provide a template to the clubs. We can add our LBYC prescriptions. We are grateful for their effort.

The regatta calendar for 2017 is light as we only host the ILYA MC Invite. 2018 on the other hand is busy. We host Quads for X, and have been awarded the ILYA C Invite, and ILYA Opti No Tears regattas.

We have five members competing at the 2017 MC Southeast Regional Regatta Nov 12-13 at Lake Eustis in Florida, the first of the Triple Crown winter MC regattas at Eustis.

On April 1st, we will be hosting the US Sailing Basic Race Management Seminar. John Strassman, head of Race Management for US Sailing is the presenter and does a marvelous job. I highly recommend attending, mark your calendar.

Happy Holidays!

Annie Haeger Awarded ILYA Member of the Year

By: Candace Porter

Annie Haeger was presented with the William Hunt Trophy for ILYA Member of the Year. Haeger was recognized for her Olympic bid, her continued appreciation for her strong Midwest roots and her outstanding promotion of our fine organization. Haeger received the award at the 2016 Fall/Winter Inland November 5th where she Skyped into the awards presentation while driving her 470 boats from FL to Chicago. The boats arrived in Miami from Rio only a few days before. Haeger was articulate in describing her Olympic quest and her gratitude to all her ILYA supporters.

everyone. Team USA had its own building in the village, but was not allowed to display the U.S. flag for security reasons.

The crowded conditions and security made it difficult to follow a routine and get time alone. All the athletes were followed by U.S. Secret Service agents. Transportation to the sailing venue was by scheduled bus.

The opening ceremony was filled with feelings of pride for country and unity with all the world's athletes. Yes, she got to meet Michael Phelps. She also became friendly with Gabby Douglas during the event.

For Team HP, the sailing was a constant battle to make up ground despite crazy conditions (12' waves on the outer courses) and equipment issues. They battled back from some poor starts and a mainsail halyard failure, and were sitting in 2nd place after 3 days. On day 4, heading in to shore with a front coming in, they capsized in a 39 mph gust and couldn't get the mainsail down, resulting in significant wear on the sail. The Olympic equipment "police" wouldn't let them use a new mainsail for the remainder of the event, which rattled them.

Despite the challenges, Team HP was in 3rd overall approaching the medal race, with a chance for bronze or silver. On the first beat, they got a favorable shift and led at the first mark. They were not able to extend their lead downwind. After rounding, they saw other teams inside hitching up, and tried to tack and consolidate, but couldn't cross, so had to tack back. This cost them some boats, but they still rounded the last windward mark in striking distance. Unfortunately, they fouled an aggressive Japanese team on the downwind and that was the killer. Annie described it as having your heart ripped out.

Annie's summation of her experience was heartwarming. Team HP named their boat "Lose Yourself," to mark the total commitment it takes to succeed. The result, for Annie, was that she found herself, and even though the pain is still real, will come out of this stronger. She also knows what it would look like if she decides to try again. We can assure her that LBYC will be behind her whatever she decides.

Hello Lake Beulah friends!

I would love to personally invite everyone to attend the Christmas Party this year. Toothpicks has come up with a great menu and the committee will be offering some delicious desserts. It is a great opportunity to see our dear friends before some of us winter in warmer locations. We also will be entertained by East Troy Choir again, what a treat! Please get your reservation into Brooke Brickler or you can register on the LBYC website.

I have included a preliminary list of committee assignments in this issue. You may always change or trade your assignment but it seems to help to publish this list early for easier summer planning. The Committee names in bold are committee chairs. If you see a committee without a bold name, no chair is assigned yet to that committee. You will see that we are a little sparse on a couple of cookouts. Please let me know if you can help with more than one cookout or if you are a weekend person that may be able to make it to the lake mid-week.

We will be partnering again with Toothpicks to offer optional catering help for the cookouts. I will be providing more information on this and sending out menus in early Spring. We will be bringing back

Friday Night Fish Fries again! They were a huge hit! Dates of Fish Fries will be determined as the calendar becomes more solidified. Please email me at chrissy.kubi@gmail.com with any changes you need to make.

Look forward to seeing everyone at the Christmas party on December 10.

Happy Holidays!

Bread and Circus Sailing at the Nan Norris Memorial

by Will Norris

Sailing on Lake Beulah with larger skilled fleets has been characterized as ARENA sailing, because of the close quarter action.. This year, Lake Beulah gave fresh baked LBYC loaves of bread to all of the sailors, possibly a first in sailing history. Mindful of the ARENA SAILING definition together with the free FRESH BREAD, one could say that Lake Beulah has created a unique event in the world of sailing which we can define as BREAD AND CIRCUS SAILING. Not unlike the ancient events in the coliseum of Rome in which carnage was a frequent spectacle. Regrettably, there was no carnage this year for the second year in a row.

The Nan Norris Memorial (Beulah Challenge) was held the weekend of September 24, 25 in magnificent Indian summer weather with gentle breezes out of the east. Beulah's Milt Haeger with assistance from son Matt ran the races to perfection. Kudos go to them and the entire race committee.

Opening night Friday began with a "learn to shuck" OYSTER bar including fresh shrimp flown in straight from a family shrimp boat. There were two oyster types. One was WELLFLEET oysters from Cape Cod which are a reasonably sweet and famous oyster. The second were Malpeque oysters from Prince Edward Island Canada, a more meaty yet still sweet oyster. Over thirty loaves of fresh baked bread were meant for making PO BOY sandwiches, however, the shrimp and oysters were apparently so good that no one bothered. They chased it all down with New Orleans style, HURRICANE drinks.

Day one sailing had three races with light easterly to northeasterly breezes on a race course that stretched from Buck Island, to Jeff Lippert's house. Most challenging was a wind that came out of Jesuit Island and Oster's bay with at many times little or no visibility. Sailors who were trying to race by seeing the wind were thus challenged because the wind was oftentimes invisible. As Charlie Kutschenreuter so ably described it, "Every time I tried to think and see the wind and make tactical decisions I was wrong, and every time I followed the fleet blindly I was right, so I stopped thinking". Sailing blind into a hole proved to be a good decision often. Ann Porter seemed to get it right more than others.

The Saturday night party again had MARGARITAS made the traditional way and tenderloin steak fajitas under the magnificent leadership of Teri Ann Norris, Beth Kutschenreuter and the many members of the team. A Latin band played for 3 hours.

Sunday morning we had the excellent pancake breakfast pioneered 44 years ago in 1962 by Nan Norris and her husband and now sponsored generously by the Sullivans. Posters of the 1962 breakfast were on the LBYC walls.

Sunday the wind shifted slightly to the southeast and increased somewhat and the course went from Beulah Beach to Stumpf's bay. In the end, the regatta was won by Beulah's Jay Hiller with son Tommy crewing for him. They narrowly beat Anne Porter.

Above: Jay and Tommy with first awards

We are in our third year of creating and defining a unique sailing regatta in both sailing and social aspects. In 2015, we created an image or logo of the regatta, along with a website and our first annual poster, "HEY BIG BOY". In 2016, we again produced a main poster, "THINK BIG BLOW." A poster homage to Milt Haeger and Walter Schwarting, aka "SALTY". "Think Big Blow" was a term coined by Will Norris and Gary Nikolas, with others, for Salty at PYC in the early 1970's. It was put on Salty Buttons for a number of years thereafter. Our tag line this year which added to it, was "You know how to blow don't you, you just put your lips together and.." which was inspired by the book and movie "To Have and Have Not" of Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall and Hemingway fame in which Lauren whispers a similar line to Bogart. It is the 34th most famous line in cinema history. This author was first drawn to film noir and old comedy movies by Milt Haeger, who inspired and introduced him to film history and who could quote comedians from the 1930's.

The poster art takes roughly 1 to 1 1/2 years each to complete. Next year, 2017 will feature new art along with a number of supplemental pieces, some inspired from this year's events as part of a planned series. The logo and art is an attempt at a visual sailing narrative, encompassing sailing history and philosophy.

The Nan Norris Memorial Regatta or "NANCY", honors Nancy Norris and her friends, Gan Haeger, Marcia Berman, Gretchen Oster, and Marge Harvey who mentored young sailors on Lake Beulah for over a half century. It began and still is a Beulah Challenge.

Results see page 8

Note: This author was present at the founding of the C and E Blue Chips, the first Black Ties, and WYA's and ILYA's and many more, going back over 50 years.

See our website lbyc.us for 4 additional Challenge art pieces produced this year.

George Dorn Regatta

Sept. 10-11, 2016 by Hardy Will

The regatta had an ominous beginning. The weather forecast for Saturday was for storms and high winds and this left advance registration low. However, the weather turned out fine and 29 die-hard sailors registered.

After a brief delay to allow the weather to clear out, PRO Doug Dorn set the course and racing began. The first race was won by Richard Lorenz from Powers Lake, followed by Al Haeger and Dan Fink. Race #2 took place after adjustments to an ever shifting wind. The race was won by Mike Gehl from Pine followed by Richard Lorenz and Kent Haeger. After lunch, Race #3 got underway. This race was won by Kent Haeger with Jeff Lippert and Mike Gehl following.

Saturday was capped off with a great beef tenderloin dinner prepared by a fantastic volunteer crew led by Mitzy Dorn and Kathy Will.

Sunday again had good wind for the final Race #4. This race was won handily by Vicki Clayton ("Girl Power"). She was followed by Chris Kubicek and Kent Haeger ... a Beulah sweep!

C Scow World Championship returns to Beulah and clan Porter!

by Joe Skotarzak

Over the years every sailing member of the Porter family has won a world title. John and Christine have both steered boats to the title, while Ben and Dave have been part of winning crews more than once. Heck, one year Katie worked some special Porter magic to crew on BOTH of the first AND second place boats! If you're keeping track at home you'll note that every one (not counting Candace, who has been on the RC many times, and whose sailing years are behind her) of the Porters has won, EXCEPT Anne. UNTIL this year! Yes, fans, it's true, she's finally filled out the esteemed ranks of C Scow World Champion Porters! The stage was set and the drama enhanced by a very near miss (by a single point over 5 races in a 33 boat fleet – for all you kids following along at home, don't ever doubt when your coaches tell you that every boat counts!)

On the first weekend in October, at the C Worlds on Delevan, Anne took the helm of the 217 on Saturday morning 10-8 and came out with both barrels blazing. The RC scheduled back to back races in the morning and Anne showed all the fellas a thing or two (or more) by putting up a DOUBLE-BULLET to take a commanding lead into the lunch break. I mentioned to her on the way in that we should change our plan to have me steer the afternoon, that she "should really keep steering races until one of these boys can manage to beat you to a finish line." She chuckled her Anne giggle and thought about it for the briefest of moments before saying "Nah. Your turn. Don't blow it." I did my best and held serve in the afternoon so we were the leaders in the clubhouse after Day 1. Andrew Bohl was in second so it was a Beulah kind of day! Sunday morning we had some good strategy-chatting and math-confirmation on the way to the course and during the meandering about while waiting for the breeze to settle in. Finally we were off and she put us right where we needed to be. A good clean start and a masterful first beat and we held the lead coming into the mark. From there we stayed right in the hunt with the first group, solidly in position of locking down the World title. We battled back and forth, and approaching the finish we broke with the other leaders to see about getting one more bullet, knowing that we really couldn't lose the overall. Unless we'd tipped over, which we managed not to do. We went left and it came right and we finished 4th, while Dave Davenport filled in admirably on the 23 and sailed almost as well as Andrew had, while battling to the finish with the first group and in the final analysis dropping into a tie for 2nd from whence they lost the tiebreaker while holding onto a podium finish of 3rd. And it was all said and done and Anne joined the ranks of Porter World Champs!

Sidestays' Corner

Now that the golden days of October have passed and the muted browns, reds and gray tones of November ready us for the first snows of winter, we look back on a joyous season of fun and fellowship at Lake Beulah with fondness. Thank you to all the hard working members and their families who provided us with several fantastic events, Dock and Dine, Noon Socials, Golf Outing, to name a few. These occasions provided all of us with wonderful memories of summer at the lake in 2016.

We look forward to another great season of sailing, socializing and celebrating with our friends once again in the New Year of 2017!

On deck for the coming year is a new spin on two of our old favorites. Dock and Dine and the Float Boat Tour will be modified in the summer of 2017 to reflect the best of both. A new event in the planning, Taste and Take will certainly include "on-the-water" travel and plenty of sumptuous treats. More information will be forthcoming. watch for the Float Boat tour to return in 2018!

Thanks to all our members who are already a part of Sidestays. If you are not currently a member, please consider joining us! Membership is open to all women LBYC members for only $15 year. Please consider including this when submitting your LBYC dues and fees early next year. Sidestays is an important part of the Lake Beulah Yacht Club and provides support for the Lake Beulah Sailing School as well as the Yacht Club as a whole. Also, we have great fun just getting together!

Please note the following dates. We have scheduled general meetings in the early evening, with the hope of allowing more members to attend.

General Meeting: Tuesday, June 13.
5:30-7:00 Meeting/Hors d'oeuvres

General Meeting: Tuesday, August 15.

The largest pike
Jason Bonifield has ever landed is this beauty. He says, "I've caught a handful right under 40", but this is the first fish to surpass the magic 40" mark. I have already commissioned an artist to create a life sized graphite replica, If it's finished by then maybe she'll (all large pike are females) show up at the Opening Party next spring. I am getting to be pretty good friends with the senior fisheries biologist for Walworth County (Wisconsin DNR). We may work together in the future to try and discern how/why pike grow so large in Lake Beulah, we already have a few ideas."
